Let's Make an Orchestra! DESCRIPTION:

Queens Symphony Orchestra, in our 58th season and the only professional orchestra in Queens, will present two 45-minute concerts for the school children of New York City (Kindergarten through 8th grades) on Thursday, April 14th (10 am & 11:30 am) at Kupferberg Center, Queens College. The game-show format QSO introduced last spring was such a hit that we decided to create new games using different orchestral works to teach your students about the orchestra. In addition, one of QSO's 2010 Young Soloist Competition winners will perform for your students to demonstrate various playing techniques and styles. Seeing a peer perform may even inspire your students to start studying an instrument themselves!

Study Guides are available to all classes that attend the concerts, providing a more in-depth preparation for the performance

The Young People's Concerts are one of the most important contributions that Queens Symphony Orchestra makes by bringing music and its wide-ranging value and inspiration to the area's youth. These concerts provide up to 8,000 children per year the opportunity to experience a live, professional symphonic concert in an outside performance hall using an educational and interactive format.

Please contact the QSO Education Coordinator IMMEDIATELY to hold space for your class(es) placement in the concert. QSO asks for co-sponsorship from your school in the amount of $180 per class. This co-sponsorship payment helps defray the costs of study guides, concert hall rental, music and equipment rental, and more. With the exception of your school closing from an emergency, there will not be a refund given for cancellations made on or after March 14, 2011.

To secure your seats for this concert, please send/fax your completed reservation form and co-sponsorship payment. This form can also be downloaded directly from our website: www.queenssymphony.org. Please call or e-mail for additional information. These concerts fill up quickly, so please respond ASAP!
